

Hello all fellow golfers,

Here comes the latest news about the 2010 World Deaf Golf Championships.

Don Conway and Simeon Hart from the WDGf Board have made an inspection of the 2010 World Deaf Golf Championship site. Together with the Scottish WdGC 2010 committee they visited the hotels and the Torrance Course, where the Championships will be played. Don and Simeon were very satisfied with the inspection, and believe that the 2010 WdGC will be a fantastic event!

The good news is that the high accommodation costs have been reduced! A twin bed room will now cost £713 at the Fairmont Hotel and £465 at the New Hall Hotel.

Please look at www.wdgc2010.com/packages.php for more information.

You can contact David Wilson or Scott Ritchie (info@wdgc2010.com) from the 2010 organising committee if you have questions about the Championships.

The WDGf wants to thank the Scottish WdGC organising committee and the Sportworks for their hospitality and cooperation during the inspection, and we wish them good luck with the planning of the 2010 World Deaf Golf Championships.

Keep golfing!
